Amid financial crises, admission withdrawals in many low-cost private schools, fewer enrolments in entry-level classes

MM BUREAU

New Delhi/July 29

Several private schools in the national capital have witnessed fewer enrolments in entry-level classes this year amid the Covid-19 pandemic. According to the school managements, many parents have even dis-enrolled their children, citing financial constraints triggered by a nationwide lockdown to contain the pandemic.

A majority of these private schools are low-cost ones charging monthly tuition fees between 8000 and 12,000 per student and catering to the children of lower-middle-class families. Hari Prakash Sharma, the chairman of New Happy Public School in Naraina Model, said they have 80 seats in entry-level classes—nursery, kindergarten and Class 1. "We have received only six or seven admissions this year as of now. It's never happened before. Parents of at least 80 students have withdrawn their wards' admissions in the last two months, citing financial issues. We do not know how we will survive this year since we are not even receiving fees from all students. We cannot even pay our staff," he said. The school offers education up to Class 8 and charges 11,100 tuition fees per student per month.

There is a similar situation in another school, Dharampal Shrivastava, the chairman of Shiva Model School in Bawana that offers classes up to Class 10, said that they have received no admissions to nursery and kindergarten this year. "We do not have a nursery class this year. A majority of students who were promoted from nursery to kindergarten have left. At least 10-15 students have applied for transfer certificates (TCs) in every class. We are in terrible shape now. The overall enrolment has drastically reduced this he said. The school classes 8000 tuition fees per student per month.

Priyanka Gulati, the principal of Evergreen Public School that has primary branches in both Mayapuri-1 and Acharya Niketan, said that both the branches have received very few admissions this year. "Every year, all our sections are usually full by this time. But this year, we only have a handful of admissions in both branches. It will be a major challenge to run two branches with such a thin strength this year. We do not know how we will retain our staff," she said.

In some schools in rural areas of Delhi, parents of as many as 20%-30% students have withdrawn their admissions. Pradeep Vats, the chairman of Marigold Public School in north-west Delhi's Katerwara, said that 30% of the 1,400 students enrolled in their school have left. The school offers education from nursery to Class 12 and charges between 11,300 and 12,500 in tuition fees per student per month. "Many parents have said that they won't be able to pay the fees this year citing financial crises. They have said they will enrol them in government schools," he said.

Anuradha Mehta, the principal of Red Rose Public School in Sector 29, said, "Many parents of students in junior classes have applied for a TC and a few have already left without it. We also have seats vacant in nursery, which is unprecedented in our school."

Among the parents, who have withdrawn their children from private schools, is Mahesh Kumar who was working in a factory in Gandhi Nagar till March. Kumar has lost his job due to the economic slowdown caused by the Covid-enforced lockdown. His two children—a son (10) and a daughter (6)—were studying in a private school till March. "I am not in a position to pay the school fees this year. I am waiting for government school admissions to begin. I will enrol my children in a government school this year."

While government schools are yet to begin non-planned admissions, the three civic bodies—north, east and south—started the admission process in their schools on July 29. Students who migrate from MCD to Delhi government schools in Class 6 are called 'planned admissions', those who migrate from other civic body school to any class are called 'non-planned admissions'.

An advisor to Delhi education minister Manish Sisodia, who requested the government will soon start the admission process in its schools.

"The migration of Class 6 students from MCD schools to Delhi government schools is already completed. We will soon start admission to other classes as well. There is a huge possibility of private schools students moving to government schools in large numbers this year. Also, parents now know that government schools in Delhi are equally good or even better than several private schools," the advisor said.

Principles of several municipal schools said that this year they have admitted several students who were earlier studying at private schools in the neighbourhood. Lalit Ahuja, the principal of a north civic body school in Aya Nagar, said, "We admitted a few students from private schools in almost every class within a week of the commencement of admissions. We are also getting calls from parents who want to shift their children from private schools. We will get a clear picture by the end of August."

Meanwhile, some parents are also switching from expensive private schools to affordable private schools. Simple Bedi, a single mother of a Class 4 student, has been out of work since March.

AAP to protest against south civic body's new tax on professionals, other hikes

Our Correspondent

New Delhi/July 29

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) will organise a protest outside the Bherotiya Janata Party (BJP) office on Wednesday against the decision of the South Delhi Municipal Corporation (SDMC) to levy a professional tax on self-employed persons, like tax on transfer of property, and almost double the taxes on rented commercial properties.

All three municipal corporations in Delhi are ruled by the BJP. The SDMC House on Monday passed the proposal to levy a professional tax on self-employed persons and professionals working in companies — a first in Delhi — and doubled the tax on rented commercial properties. The civic body also approved a 1% hike in tax on transfer of property, with an aim to ramp up revenue collection which has been hit by the national lockdown to contain spread of the coronavirus disease (Covid-19).

The AAP's political affairs committee member and in-charge of municipal corporation affairs Durgesh Pathak on Tuesday also criticised the move and said its councillors did not oppose the move in the SDMC House when it was passed on Monday.

"The BJP should be ashamed of implementing these taxes at a time when people are struggling because of the Covid-19 pandemic... We shall be protesting against the move outside the BJP office tomorrow (Wednesday)... While the BJP is the party behind the taxes, the Congress worked in conjunction with it by remaining silent in the House while the taxes were passed. Also, since 2017, when the BJP came to power in the three municipal corporations, Congress has not organised a single protest against the irregularities in the civic bodies. Is it because they are participants in the same corruption?" Pathak said during a press conference on Tuesday. Delhi Congress chief Chaudhary Anil Kumar said, "Congress councillors in the House had openly and vehemently opposed the passing of the new taxes, which at a time like this is inhuman and an additional burden on the common man. Both the AAP and the BJP are fooling people the same way.

Even the AAP government had hiked the VAT on diesel and petrol, which is not warranted at this time. The Congress is also going to hold a press meet on the issue tomorrow (Wednesday)." In response to AAP's allegations, BJP leader and SDMC mayor Anamika Mishra said due to the pandemic, the income of the civic body has been hit and its financial condition has worsened, leaving them with no option but to levy taxes.

"In the past, we refrained from imposing any new tax or increasing rates of existing taxes but the Covid-19 has changed the scenario. As per the recommendations of the Fifth Finance Commission, Delhi government has to give us 11,800 crore but it is yet to do so. Hence, we had to levy taxes. We have designed tax slabs in such a way that it does not impact the common man," she said.

For self-employed professionals such as doctors, lawyers, chartered accountants and architects etc., earning between 50,000-75,000 per month, the professional tax will be 3100 per month. For those earning between 75,000-1 lakh, it will be 3250 a month, while it will be 3200 a month for those earning above 1 lakh. Those earning less than 50,000 a month will not be taxed.

The SDMC House also doubled the tax on rented commercial property. The tax amount will depend on the location of the property. "Under the SDMC jurisdiction, there are around 9,000 to 10,000 commercial properties. So we hope to generate an additional revenue of 200-100 crore per annum.

Delhi HC dismisses plea against power, water subsidy, imposes cost on petitioner

MM BUREAU

New Delhi/July 29

The Delhi High Court on Tuesday dismissed a plea challenging the water and electricity subsidies given by the AAP government and also imposed a cost of Rs 25,000 on the petitioner, stating that it was "absolutely and purely" a policy decision, which does not require interferences.

A bench of chief justice DN Patel and justice Prateek Jalan said water and electricity concessions were being given by the Delhi government as per its policy decision which was based upon complex facts and situations prevailing in the society.

It said the policy is based on the desire of the people and "how to raise a state has to be left best to the people doing so". The bench further said that unless an illegality in a policy is pointed out, the court was not inclined to alter or interfere with it.

"The court cannot impose even a better policy," it said, adding "we see no reason to entertain the petition." Petition is dismissed with cost of Rs 25,000 to be deposited with the legal services authority."

Delhi government's additional standing counsel Sanjay Ghose and advocate Urvi Mohan had opposed the plea.

Govt to take a call on continuation of hotels as Covid facilities in Delhi

MM BUREAU

New Delhi/July 29

With the active Covid-19 cases in Delhi at 10,857 on Tuesday, the Aam Aadmi Party government is planning to release several hotels and banquet halls that were converted into extended hospitals since May 29, chief minister Arvind Kejriwal's office said on Tuesday.

To discuss the matter and take a decision in this regard, Kejriwal is scheduled to lead a meeting with the health and revenue departments on Wednesday.

On June 12, when Covid cases in the Capital were surging, the Delhi government released a list of 77 banquet halls and 40 hotels that were to be converted into Covid facilities to quickly make up for the lack of hospital beds. A total of over 15,800 beds were planned to be provided in the listed hotels (4,628 beds) and banquet halls (11,229 beds).

The plan was approved by the Delhi government on May 29, when it had identified five hotels to be converted into extended Covid hospitals. These hotels included Crowne Plaza which was attached to an extended hospital for the longest time, the rest of the hotels did not receive any patients.

"We have 16,038 Covid beds in various hospitals and 12,996 are vacant even now. Since we have beds available in hospitals, we were getting a lot of requests from different hotels and banquet hall owners to delink or relieve their facilities from Covid duty."

Now that the situation seems to have stabilised a bit, a meeting has been called to decide exactly how it is to be done and from when," said an official in the chief minister's office on condition of anonymity.

HC pulls up DU for lack of preparation regarding exams for differently abled students

MM BUREAU

New Delhi/July 29

The Delhi High Court on Tuesday pulled up the Delhi University for its lack of preparation and facilities, including the arrangement of scribes and CSE Centres, for differently abled students to facilitate them to appear in the Open Book Examinations (OBE) for final-year undergraduate courses.

"This is how you are concerned about the career of differently abled students who have to appear for final-year exams. We are aware of the challenge to UGC guidelines that is before the Supreme Court. But we will surely ask questions about your preparation for the exams," a bench comprising justices Himu Kohli and Subrahmaniam Prasad said.

The fact that DU is cognisant of the career of students is at stake, how you are so slow," Justice Kohli asked the university.

(PwD) category have applied to take exams through Common Service (CSE) Centres, which have been set up to provide services to students who do not have the infrastructure to attend OBE.

The counsel appearing for the University said he would require time to get the details. Appearing for one of the petitioners, senior advocate Rungta told the court that about 200 students could not appear for the mock test because of lack of assisting devices, reading materia and scribes. He said when colleagues were informed about the need for writing scribes, one of the principals said they could not provide them without knowing the health status of the student during the pandemic.

The high court sought to know whether the claim of petitioners was true while noting that the Ministry of Human Resource Development and the Ministry of Electronics and Technology were earlier directed to file affidavits about the CSE centres and their preparation, including the availability of scribes.

However, the affidavit filed by the Ministry of Electronics and Technology is silent on the number of non-functional CSE centres, the bench said, adding that the issue of absence of infrastructure at the centres is yet to be addressed. It said despite directions, DU has not filed its affidavit in the matter and sought time to do so.

"It is important for us to know that if the students who have asked for scribes will be able to interact with them two days before the exams," the bench said while noting the submission of senior advocate Kapil Sibbal.

Delhi police head constable shoots himself in the head, dies

MM BUREAU

New Delhi/July 29

A 34-year-old Delhi police head constable died after allegedly shooting himself in his head inside his car at an isolated spot on Tuesday morning, the police said. Atul Kumar Thakur, deputy commissioner of police (south), said that the head constable was battling depression, most likely due to his elder brother's liver ailment. "He hasn't left behind a suicide note, but we suspect that his brother's ailment left him depressed because of which he took the extreme step," said the DCP, adding that inquest proceedings in the death have been initiated. The policeman was originally from Rajasthan, where his wife and two children live. In Delhi, the head constable lived in the police barracks. He was posted at a south Delhi police station. "On Tuesday morning, he left the barracks in his Wagon car and reached his beat area. There, we suspect, he shot himself in his car using his service revolver," said the DCP. The police was alerted of the death by a passerby who saw a bleeding man lying in the driver's seat of the car that was parked at an isolated spot in the area around 11 am. "So far, there is no evidence of involvement of foul play by anyone," said the DCP.

Delhi to get medium to heavy rains over next 24 hours

MM BUREAU

New Delhi/July 29

Delhi is all set to receive medium to high rains over the next 24 hours with the intensity increasing overnight in a well-sustained rain humidity to the residents. Several parts of the city have received moderate rains on Wednesday and this current spell is going to last till August 1, according to the weather department. The current bout of rains in the capital and adjoining areas has been brought by the monsoon trough passing close to the city. "Panjab, Haryana and Delhi will receive moderate to heavy rain and will increase during the night. Delhi is likely to receive medium to high intensity rainfall," RK Janamani, a senior scientist with the Indian meteorological department was quoted as saying by Media. Wednesday had been beneficial for the capital on the rain front, with parts of south and north Delhi receiving moderate rains. According to the New Delhi-Safdarjung weather forecasting station, the areas covered.
